Announcements

The US Department of Health and Human Services Center for Faith-Based and Community Initiatives Releases the New Innovations in Effective Compassion Website

In conjunction with the White House Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives' national conference entitled "Innovations in Effective Compassion", this Web site serves as a clearinghouse for research and evaluation that describe how the government has become more open to partnering with new faith-based and community organizations while also strengthening existing partnerships with well-established nonprofit organizations to address some of the country's most complex social problems.

This website features The Database of Federally Funded Research and Resources. This research and resources database incorporates the best FBCI research funded by Federal agencies as well as the best resources developed with Federal funding. The research includes process and results data for projects that were both specific to the FBCI and impacted by the initiative.

Mentoring Children of Prisoners: Caregiver's Choice Program

Caregiver's Choice makes it possible for many more kids across the country to have mentors, and for many more families to enjoy all the benefits of mentoring. This program is unique because it gives the child's caregiver the power to choose- to look at the possibilities and decide on the best mentoring program to meet their needs and the needs of the child.

Through Caregiver's Choice, you can: access funding to serve more children; tap into federal funds; manage your participation level; leverage national efforts to recruit children of prisoners; benefit from cutting-edge training and tools.

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) has released:

“Sustaining Grassroots Community-based Programs: A Toolkit for Community and Faith-based Service Providers.”

The toolkit is designed to help community organizations plan for sustainability, so that they will have sufficient resources to help people with substance abuse and mental health disorders.

However, the toolkit contains useful information for all community and faith-based service providers, regardless of the population they serve. The toolkit contains planning templates, worksheets, and best practices for strategic planning, organizational assessment and readiness, fund development, fundraising, and results-oriented evaluations. The kit is free and available online, and we encourage all of you to download a copy and share it with your organization, coalition, and volunteer groups. To access and download the online version of the kit, go to
